Project Description

The City of Joplin, Missouri is seeking written proposals from historians or architectural historians that meet the qualifications outlined in 36 CFR 61 to complete a National Register of Historic Places nomination application for the Broadway District. The document will be based upon the 2018 Phase I East Town (original Joplin) Historic Resources Survey and the 2020 Phase II East Town (Original Joplin) Historic Resources Survey. Final criteria and areas of significance will be determined in consultation with the State Historic Preservation Office.

The proposed Broadway District is generally located in the 500 through 800 blocks between Broadway Avenue and Hill Street in the neighborhood of East Town (Exhibit 1). Part of the proposed district includes the original Joplin plat recorded on July 28, 1871. Broadway Boulevard was an early commercial corridor and the surrounding neighborhood traditionally modest in size, scale and ornament. Beginning in the 1920s, the neighborhood began a demographic shift with African American families increasing significantly. While today East Town neighborhood is ethnically diverse, the neighborhood has a significant association with the African American community and local history.

Scope of Services – General

The qualified consulting firm will prepare and complete one (1) National Register of Historic Places Registration form and other materials necessary for the nomination of The Broadway District. Final criteria and areas of significance will be determined in consultation with the State Historic Preservation Office.

Survey recommendation for this commercial district and resources within include: Twenty-six of these resources are within a recommended commercial National Register Historic District centered on Broadway and within the Original Town plat. An additional fourteen resources would be included within the boundary of this proposed historic district but would be non-contributing due to age or lack of integrity. This potential historic district would be significant under Criterion A for Community Planning and Development as the original plat for the town of Joplin. nascent town. Phase II of the survey may identify additional resources on the south side of Broadway that should be included in this potential historic district. The period of significance would begin in 1871 when the plat was filed. More research is needed to identify an appropriate end date to the period of significance.

RE: Project Number 29-21-10029-005

Dear Mr. Walters

Owen & Eastlake is pleased to submit this proposal for the proposed Broadway Historic District, a historic commercial area in Joplin, Missouri. We are a historic preservation firm that specializes in Black history, civil rights historic preservation, and documenting historic community changes. We strive to tell all aspects of the story when we research and write our nominations.

We have successfully prepared seven African American–themed National Register nominations. We have also prepared a statewide African American civil rights Multiple Property Document form. One nomination resulted in a nationally significant African American historic district. We are experienced in neighborhoods that have experienced demographic change as integral parts of their history.

Our team meets the Secretary of the Interior’s Professional Qualifications Standards for history and architectural history. We are also familiar with the Missouri’s built environment and history. We have recently completed two reconnaissance architectural surveys for the City of Kirksville funded by Historic Preservation Fund grants. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions or comments about our proposal.

Sincerely,

Rory Krupp

Executive Summary & Company Background

Owen & Eastlake Ltd. was founded in August 2012 in Columbus, Ohio, by principal Rory Krupp. Owen & Eastlake specializes in history and architectural history. The firm has prepared successful nominations for National Register historic districts and individual properties. Seven National Register of Historic Places nominations included the themes of African American ethnic history and civil rights. The firm has also conducted one architectural survey focused on African American historic resources and one statewide Multiple Property Documentation Form for African American civil rights.

Our National Register nominations have included a wide variety of themes and subjects. They often involve community economic and racial transitions. Our professional building nominations have included African American dentists, doctors, insurance firms, newspapers and fraternal organizations as tenants. Our recreational nomination, a pool in Portsmouth, Ohio examined community backlash and reconciliation after 1960s civil rights legislation. Our African American historic district explored veteran's preference suburbs after World War II. Our Multiple Property Document examined civil rights advances in employment, public accommodations, education and police relations in Ohio. The form is currently being used to establish civil rights trials in Cleveland and statewide in Ohio. The form has also been used as a cover sheet, providing historic context for a number of historic tax credit projects in Ohio.

Our projects have been completed in Ohio, Kentucky, Missouri, and North Carolina. Owen & Eastlake has worked with state historic preservation offices, municipalities, and private and non-profit developers. Our personnel meet the Secretary of the Interior's qualifications for history and architectural history.

Company Experience

Twentieth-Century African American Civil Rights in Ohio, 1900-1970 (Multiple Property Documentation Form)

The *Twentieth-Century African American Civil Rights in Ohio, 1900-1970* National Register Multiple Property Documentation Form examines four themes in Ohio civil rights history: public accommodations, employment, education, and police brutality. Owen & Eastlake conducted field work and interviews to locate sites within the themes. National and local civil rights organizations archives, African American newspapers, the Negro Motorist Green Book, and civil rights narratives were examined in both large urban areas and rural Ohio. Close attention was paid to intra-state responses and responses over time in order to ascertain differences in how communities reacted to civil rights violations.

A notable site located is the last known standing headquarters of the Ohio National Committee to Combat Fascism, a Black Panther affiliate, in Lima, Ohio (pictured above). The MPDF also included an annotated list of extant and demolished civil rights sites for comparison, and a newly formulated set of registration guidelines. The MPDF was written for the Ohio Historic State

Preservation Office and funded by the National Park Service, Department of the Interior, African American Civil Rights Grants program. The project was conducted from October 2017 to December 2018, and the MPDF was listed in the National Register in June 2019. Total cost, $50,000

The Manse Hotel (Individual Nomination)

The Manse Hotel and Annex, located in Cincinnati's Walnut Hills neighborhood, was an African American-owned and -operated destination hotel. Established in the 1930s, it provided a level of luxury that had been hitherto unavailable in Cincinnati to African Americans.

The Manse's ballroom was the site of NAACP conventions and union gatherings, in addition to weddings and other events. In the 1950s, the Manse was home to Cincinnati Reds player Frank Robinson, and musician James Brown stayed there when he recorded at nearby King Records. The Manse was listed in the National Register in 2019. Total cost: $7,500

The Eugene McKinley Memorial Pool (Individual Nomination)

The Eugene McKinley Memorial Pool in Portsmouth, Ohio, was constructed after a local teenager drowned in the Scioto River on the last day of school because he was not allowed to patronize the white-owned and -patronized Dreamland Pool. A subscription drive failed to finish the McKinley Pool in the early 1960s, but after the local NAACP chapter held a swim-in at the Dreamland Pool shortly before the passage of the Civil Rights Act, the city finished the McKinley Pool. This established two pools in Portsmouth and maintained the status quo of segregation until the 1990s. While the McKinley Pool was the first pool open to African Americans in Portsmouth, it was listed in the National Register as one of the last segregated pools constructed in the area and a tangible example of white backlash to the Civil Rights movement in the 1960s. The pool was listed in the National Register in 2019. Funded by the National Park Service, Department of the Interior, African American Civil Rights Grants program. Cost: included in the Twentieth-Century African American Civil Rights in Ohio, 1900-1970 project for the Ohio State Historic Preservation Office.

Quinn Chapel A.M.E. Church (Individual Nomination)

Owen & Eastlake researched and prepared an amended nomination for the Quinn Chapel A.M.E. Church. The clients, Develop Louisville and the Louisville Metro government, received a grant from the Department of the Interior and the National Park Service's African American Civil Rights Historic Preservation Fund. The City of Louisville wanted to recognize the Quinn Chapel's role in the civil rights movement.

While the Quinn congregation had a storied role in Louisville's civil rights movement from the 1870s through the 1960s, Owen & Eastlake focused on a particular episode when the chapel served as a mass meeting place for those opposed to segregative zoning requirements instituted in Louisville during the early 20th century. In 1914–1915, the nascent NAACP combined forces with Louisville's civil rights leaders to fight the new zoning ordinance, financing the court battle through mass meetings held at Quinn Chapel. The court case, Warley v. Buchanan, went to the Supreme Court in 1917, and Louisville's ordinance was overturned. This marked the beginning of using mass meetings in churches to finance and gain support for national civil rights cases. For its role in the process Quinn Chapel was listed in the National Register in June 2020 with national significance. Funded by the National Park Service, Department of the Interior, African American Civil Rights Grants program. Cost: $9,000

George Washington Carver Addition (District Nomination)

The George Washington Carver Addition Historic District is an African American World War II veterans' preference suburb in Columbus, Ohio. Consisting of 90 buildings and a city park in a discontinuous district, the George Washington Carver Addition Historic District was listed under Criterion A. The veterans' preference subdivision was built in 1946–1947 in spite of substantial community opposition. The development was already well known for being the home of many Tuskegee Airmen based in Columbus, Ohio. However, research by Owen & Eastlake revealed that the subdivision was also used by the Federal Housing Administration to market minority loans across the country. The FHA noted in speeches and marketing materials that Carver Addition loans were paid promptly, and, contrary to contemporary opinion, the development had not sunk into blight.

Owen & Eastlake's research also identified another chapter in the Tuskegee Airmen story, detailing how just as the Airmen had broken barriers in wartime Europe, they continued to do so after the war. In addition to extensive research, Owen & Eastlake conducted community meetings and interviewed residents.

The district was listed under Criterion A with national significance in 2013 not only in community development, the original intended theme, but also in civil rights. It is a featured case study in the Ohio State Historic Preservation Office's statewide historic preservation plan, A Historic Preservation Plan for Ohioans, 2016–2020.

The project was funded by a Certified Local Government grant administered by the Columbus Landmarks Foundation. Cost: $9,000

The Theresa Building (Individual Nomination)

The Theresa Building is a 1925 Spanish Colonial Revival–Mission Style building that incorporates design elements common after the 1915 Panama Exhibition. It was nominated under Criterion A for its role as an African American professional building constructed during the Great Migration. It was also nominated under Criterion C as an example of a 1920s vernacular office space with high integrity.

The Theresa Building unanimously passed the Ohio Historic Site Preservation Advisory Board in March 2015 and was listed in the National Register in June 2015. The project was funded by the Ohio Department of Development using a Historic Tax Credit Pipeline Initiative Grant. This grant program funds the nomination of buildings that could benefit from federal and state historic tax credits in the future. Cost: $5,000

Franklin Park Medical Center (Individual Nomination)

The Franklin Park Medical Center is a mid-century modern medical practice constructed in 1962.

Built by a group of African American medical specialists, the building provided much-needed specialized care to the black community. Because of their race, the founders experienced hurdles in obtaining land and financing. However, over the course of several years, the building was constructed with out-of-town loans and was subsequently a focal point for community health until the 1990s.

The Franklin Park Medical Center was listed in the National Register in 2016. The areas of significance are ethnic history, health/medicine, and social history. The project was funded by Ohio Department of Development using a Historic Tax Credit Pipeline Initiative Grant and administered by the City of Columbus Land Bank and the Franklin County Land Bank. Cost: $5,000

The Edna Building (Individual Nomination)

The Edna Building housed offices of the Ohio Sentinel, an African American weekly newspaper, and from 1950–1963, the second floor housed the social room of the Dukes and Duchesses, a private social and charitable club for men and women in the city’s black professional class.

These entities – an insurance company, a newspaper and a social club – filled important roles in the community, allowing African Americans to socialize without discrimination, disseminate information ignored by other newspapers and promote fair business dealing. Together, they made The Edna an integral part of the city’s vibrant African American business community, centered on East Long Street. The Edna was listed in the National Register in 2017.

The project was funded by Ohio Department of Development using a Historic Tax Credit Pipeline Initiative Grant and administered by the Columbus Landmarks Foundation.

SELECTED PROJECTS

Phase I and II Surveys for I-70/71, Columbus, Ohio. Assessed the National Register eligibility of more than 400 buildings as part of a large highway interchange study. The project included evaluation of buildings that had not been previously surveyed, plus identification and reassessment of contributing and non-contributing properties in several National Register and City of Columbus local historic districts.

National Register District Nomination, Rockefeller Park and the Cleveland Cultural Gardens, Cuyahoga County, New York. Co-authored a National Register district nomination covering Rockefeller Park, a major urban park space that is an excellent example of the Victorian Picturesque landscape style. The nomination also included the Cleveland Cultural Gardens, a series of landscapes within the park that commemorate Cleveland's ethnic diversity. The district was successfully listed in the National Register in 2005.

National Register Nomination, Village of Gambier, Knox County, New York. Surveyed over 150 buildings in the Village of Gambier and listed the village in the National Register of Historic Places. The new Gambier historic district included the village's significant commercial and residential properties as well as an existing National Register historic district covering the Kenyon College campus.

Responses to the Scope of Services.

Owen & Eastlake will complete a National Register of Historic Places historic district nomination according to National Register guidance and bulletins and the most recent Missouri National Register guidance. Owen & Eastlake will nominate the proposed district under Criterion A, Community Development. The nomination will incorporate the recent architectural survey work done in the area.

Owen & Eastlake will hold an informational public meeting in Joplin City Hall to inform and educate the public about the program's benefits. Owen & Eastlake will identify interested stakeholders and those with specific knowledge of the area to interview.

Owen & Eastlake will then conduct local research at the appropriate libraries and repositories. If conditions are suitable for photography the area will be documented to National Register standards. Owen & Eastlake may wait until closer to the January milestone date to avoid tree leaf and shrubbery coverage in the photography.

Owen & Eastlake will provide monthly progress reports to Joplin's point of contact and more often if deemed necessary.

Rory Krupp will be the Principal Investigator and be the lead on the historic context in Section 8. Roy Hampton will assist on the context and write all architectural descriptions for Section 7.

Owen & Eastlake will explore the demographic trends that shaped the built environment in the proposed Broadway Historic District, including the Great Migration. The neighborhood was a racially mixed neighborhood and the nomination will explore the factors that led to this community development. Owen & Eastlake will research and write a context that will assist in determining the exact historic district boundary. Owen & Eastlake will explore the commercial aspects and history. Owen & Eastlake will utilize Joplin's previous architectural survey reports for context themes and individual building eligibility for contributing and non-contributing elements. Any changes in the built environment that would affect eligibility since the surveys will be discussed with the City of Joplin point of contact and the Missouri State Historic Preservation Office representative.

Owen & Eastlake will use the product milestone and payment schedule in the RFP. The nomination will be complete and revised, if necessary, on disk for submission to the National Register Section of the State Historic Preservation Office for review and approval by May 16th, 2022.

Section 7 & Section 8 research and writing

We plan to conduct our research widely. Our experience in mid-sized cities is that information is not always available in local repositories. In the past, we have used civil rights organizations record, out-of-town and national African American newspapers to fully examine local historical events.

Owen & Eastlake maintains a Friends of the Library membership at Ohio State University, a major research institution. We maintain memberships in the Ohio History Connection and the Filson Historical Society; a JSTOR membership for access to the latest scholarly articles; and memberships in newspaper and genealogical databases. We patronize public libraries, including online resources, in Cincinnati, Chicago, Cleveland, and Toledo, as well as the State of Ohio Library and local and state repositories with relevant neighborhood resources. All these resources will be used for the historic research as appropriate.

We will also utilize the archives at:

- Missouri Southern State University
- The State Historical Society of Missouri Research Centers
