

Officer Daniel Sheehan was shot and killed July 19, 1885 near 2nd and Main. He and two other officers were attempting to arrest Joseph Thornton on an arrest warrant when Thornton pulled a gun and shot the officer. Thornton was taken into custody after the shooting but an angry mob broke him out of jail and hung him in a maple tree at the corner of 2nd and Wall.