

On June 26, 1931, Captain Alex Lachman and Officer Walter Flenner arrested Harry Spencer who was wanted in connection with an auto theft. While they were transporting the prisoner to the city jail, Spencer pulled a gun and shot Captain Lachman. Lachman was able to return fire and shot Spencer several times. Captain Lachman died at the scene and Spencer died a few days later at a local hospital.