

Detective Harry McGinnis was killed April 13, 1933, in a gun battle with the Barrow Gang near 34th and Oak Ridge. Newton County Constable J. W. Harryman was also killed in the shootout. The Barrow Gang consisted of Clyde Barrow, Bonnie Parker, Buck and Blanche Barrow, and W. D. Jones. The gang escaped under a hail of bullets. Buck, Blanche, and W. D. Jones were all captured later and Bonnie and Clyde were eventually killed in a trap set in Louisiana.
